Jean-François Duquesne
CEO of Bridor

Jean-François Duquesne was appointed CEO of Bridor in bridor North America in October 2010.

From 2006 to 2010, Duquesne acted as senior vice president at Dawn Foods Europe, a company that specializes in commercializing baking ingredients and products. He also served in the Canadian division as General Manager from 2004 to 2006.

Duquesne, who has been working in the agri-food industry since 1992, began his career with the Puratos Group, a leading international supplier of ingredients and solutions for the baking, pastry, and chocolate industries.

Having held management positions in Belgium, the United Kingdom, the United States, and Canada, Duquesne, in his current role, has been instrumental in promoting Bridor beyond Quebec's borders and throughout North America.

His success has relied on two factors: strategic positioning and a solid, competent team.
